

Introduction

The Layout GUI Tool is a portion of Roundup Asset management tools.

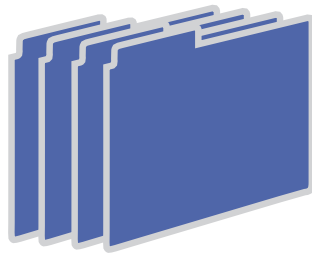

Methodology of layered development and deployment rollouts of a user centered Copyright acquisition process. By use of iCopyright Registration and payment matrix readers can legally reuse and distribute written content from the Internet.

Promethious

Surface

User Interface is to be completely web-based allowing reader to copyright and download articles off the Internet.

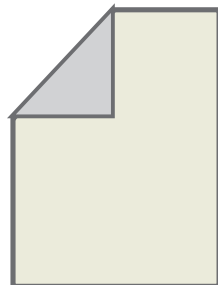

Web-based user interface. Provides reader to register content found on the Internet. Customer creates Login account that they own. With an account they can return repeatedly for services.

Round-up

Structure

The Registration matrix allows customer to purchase, copyright any number of copies, and print out article (1 copy) in a variety of formats. Article is registered and paid for with online verification. Customer creates own look and feel through Layout GUI. Download link is send via email for retrieval.

Layout GUI designed to provide a work space for reader to create own look and feel of article.

Layout GUI

Skeleton

Templates developed with TeX (LaTeX) are stored in Repository. User can choose Asset Formats, Layouts, Mastheads, and Content. Upon Submit of approved layout - hyperlink is sent to customer via email. Customer downloads article designed in the layout they created.

Lifeline

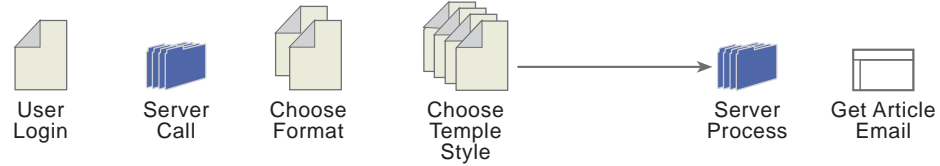

Presentation represents complete workflow after deployment of final rollout.

Choose Format Each Format has a Layout Family.

Choosing a Format

The iCx repository stores eight different Format types.

Formats have Layout Family. Layouts are comprised of pre-formatted templates that are kept in a repository.

Choices of Format types are listed on this page.

User selects radio button then clicks on <View Sample> to preview sample layout.

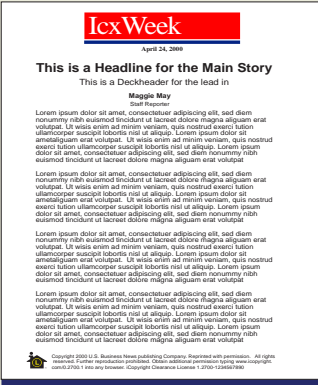

Choose A Format Type

Click on a layout to Begin or Continue your Saved layout

Choose Layout

Each Layout Family is made up of Templates designed in TeX (LaTeX).

Template Choices

Composing process begins with a Template choice from the Layout Family.

Templates cannot be modified with one exception. If the article content is too long for one page a subsequent page will automatically be created to accommodate the space needed. And will not result in increased cost.

Downloads are priced by number of copies per article.

Click: <Use This Layout> to continue.

Create a Desktop Reprint Layout

Four preview thumbnails of desktop reprint layouts are shown, each with a "Your Masthead Here" box at the top, a "Pageheader" section, and a "Headline" section. The content below the headline is arranged in two columns. Each thumbnail is labeled with a radio button and the text "Template A", "Template B", "Template C", or "Template D".
